The Spectrum & the Commons: Doing Quite Well Without News

Policy Space: Traditional regulatory approach: detailed planning to constrain conflicting uses and increase efficiency. Moving towards mixed approach (planning, markets, open access).

Advocacy Space: Democracy and access: spectrum policy should facilitate broad access and enable the widest possible community involvement. Present policy wastes enormous resources.

Digital Commons Issue: Visibility: technology platforms: digital commons will serve maximum benefit to society by unleashing innovation and creativity.

In the news space, traditional policy issues dominate. Digital commons is not associated with the FC.

Conclusion: Comparing the Web and the news maps, the commons are doing well in the issue network without news.
